Immortal Soul

As the spirit wanders through the mansions of life according to its need and desire it dwells for a time upon a particular sphere, e.g. earth. It is cloaked by the soul which is partly etheric and partly matter from the sphere to which the spirit is incarnating.

The soul is immortal because it is the required vehicle of multiple spheres. Its material enables the spirit to enter and remain attached to the body of the sphere to which the spirit is incarnating. Its function is to record all experiences and resulting knowledge and conclusions. It is, therefore, associated with memory.

The nature of the spirit is to strive to return to the realm of its birth with fully conscious awareness. The striving of the spirit determines the direction the soul takes through the mansions of life.
