Many masters walked the earth in ancient times. They brought with them a command. They brought the disciplines of a spiritual life that could be applied to earth life. They laid a path for those who sought to learn.

Appreciate their wisdom. Appreciate that none may lightly follow in their footsteps. Once the journey on the Path of the Masters is begun the course of your life and your purpose in life becomes more apparent in terms of spiritual awareness.

This path of travel cannot be taken lightly. You prove to the Lords in charge of the Wisdom of the Ages that you are worthy to receive what is theirs to give. You prove you are prepared to accept the disciplines that accompany their teachings. Much is asked. Pervading all is humility and love for the Great Spirit.

The effect of the material life lessens. The corridors to the spiritual mind open so what the masters convey can be heard. They only communicate the voice of their spirit through channels of light dedicated to the cause of spirit.

Bow your heads in humility and ask a blessing. Let the song in your heart be to a different tune. Allow love for the Great Spirit to enter otherwise the teaching spirit from these ancient ones departs, taking its presence and wisdom elsewhere.
