True Teaching Partnerships

Many records of ancient times have come down to modern times through mythology. Everything that has been handed down or recorded in some way has its basis in truth, which is often coloured by the point in time it makes its face apparent. It is as mercury, flowing and moulding to create the picture that the mind of the culture of that time can accept.

This world is finite. Because of this the face of truth in this world is finite. Each civilisation or culture accepts a certain aspect of truth which is adjusted so it may be accepted by the minds of that culture that think in a certain way.

Each civilisation and each culture grows in a certain direction. Their minds pick up a thread of truth and develop according to that thread. What is presented to them is to encourage the development and evolution of the people. The same truth in another culture could be shown from a different angle. It is no less the truth.

This is humbling for man because it explains why at no time can any one person, one culture or one race grasp and hold the whole truth on any subject. The mind of man is not developed enough to do this. A more encompassing truth belongs to the more encompassing world of spirit, once again, according to the evolvment of the particular spirit at the time.

The same laws apply to all and to every situation, both upon the earth and in the world of spirit. The world of spirit is not the final arriving place. It is a place where its understanding and light encompasses a wider view of truth than the cabined spirit of man.

Throughout the history of the world there have always been traces of the philosophy concerning twin spirits or soul mates. This philosophy was most apparent in the Egyptian culture. Through the love bond, the love vibration, the point of spiritual birth, the special attachment, soul mates or twin spirits work together in a way no other can.
